Letsch Law Firm's mission is to provide legal education and guidance with compassion and understanding. This may seem like an odd mission statement for a law firm; however, it is tailored to meet the needs of our clients. Our areas of practice include elder law, probate, estate planning, and trust administration. This also includes some related real estate and business work.

Elder Law often involves assisting when the client's financial, medical, and housing needs converge, sometimes requiring the need to obtain government benefits to pay for nursing home or in-home medical assistance. Probate and trust administration clients have recently experienced a death in the family. In these instances, clients often come to us in emotional distress and a profound state of confusion and helplessness. These clients are vulnerable and deserve our compassion, in addition to the education they need to make informed decisions.

Estate Planning conversations are very personal in nature. It is critical for us to develop a deep level of trust so that we can understand the family dynamics and relationships, in addition to understanding our client's financial situation, so that we can recommend the correct estate planning tools to meet our client's values and goals. Therefore, our mission is focused on compassion and understanding.
